

mypaperwork.ai Launches Digital Assistant to Help Ukrainians Apply for the RWR+ Card in Austria

Vienna – Austrian migration-tech startup mypaperwork.ai, developed by Fresh Labs FlexCo, has launched a dedicated Application Assistant to help Ukrainians in Austria apply for the Red-White-Red (RWR+) Card – Austria’s key work and residence permit.

More than 80,000 Ukrainians currently live in Austria. In the coming months and years, most will need to transition from temporary protection to a more permanent status. That means meeting legal requirements, navigating language barriers, and collecting dozens of documents – all without clear guidance.

mypaperwork.ai’s Application Assistant simplifies this process step by step, in both Ukrainian and English.

“This tool gives Ukrainians in Austria the clarity and confidence to manage their status change on their own terms,” says Maggie Childs, co-founder and CEO.

“But it’s also just the start. We’re building digital tools that make migration and bureaucracy across Europe fairer, faster, and easier to navigate.”

What the Application Assistant Offers

The Assistant is free to start, and includes:

-  A personal dashboard tailored to each user
-  Step-by-step guidance in Ukrainian and English
-  Secure document uploads, reminders & progress tracking
-  AI support, with the option for human help
-  Premium services: document reviews, translation requests, income checks, video consultations

Paid support starts at €49, compared to traditional services that often cost €2,000+ per application, with special deals available for Ukrainians with lower income.

---

Why This Matters

-  Over 80,000 Ukrainians live in Austria today

-  Most will need to apply for the RWR+ Card in 2025–2026
-  Austria currently issues ~5,000 RWR+ Cards per year, far below its potential
-  Legal or agency-based support can cost €2,000+
-  80% of migrants manage these processes alone, without professional support
-  More than 250,000 people move to Austria each year

mypaperwork.ai helps bridge this gap – by making complex paperwork understandable, affordable, and accessible.
